DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 26 January 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to the applicant's argument that Hashimoto does not disclose a diaper comprising both the sensor and the actuator, it is noted that the entire device of Hashimoto is integral with the portion that fits around the wearer's waist, and therefore Hashimoto discloses a diaper comprising a sensor and an actuator. The present claim does not limit the term 'diaper,' and therefore the diaper of Hashimoto may include the sensor and the actuator.

Response to Amendment

The amendment filed 26 January 2007 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: The combination of a disposable article to be worn and a diaper is not disclosed in the instant specification.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Specification

The amendment filed 26 January 2007 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: The combination of a disposable article to be worn and a diaper is not disclosed in the instant specification.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 28-32, 34-37, 40-44, and 47-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The combination of a disposable article to be worn and a diaper is not disclosed in the instant specification. The present claims disclose both a disposable article adapted to be worn by a wearer and a diaper comprising a responsive system. The present specification does not disclose the combination of a wearable disposable article and a diaper, but rather discloses a wearable disposable article in the form of a diaper. Therefore, the claimed combination of a disposable article and a diaper considered new matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3761

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 28-32 and 58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hashimoto et al. (5,681,297).

Hashimoto discloses all aspects of the claimed invention with the exception of the waste contamination area and mass values. Hashimoto discloses a disposable article, as shown in figure 8, comprising a responsive system including a sensor 109 that detects an input when fecal waste is excreted and an actuator 108b that delivers a composition when the sensor detects an input, as disclosed in column 3, lines 42-60. Hashimoto further discloses a method of enhancing removability of waste by providing and using the article, as disclosed in column 2, lines 1-12.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to provide the composition of Hashimoto with a Waste Contamination Area of less than 15 cm² and a Waste Contamination Mass of less than 14 mass units, since it has been held that where the general conditions of the claim are disclosed in the prior art (i.e. the desire to enhance the removability of and to remove fecal waste), finding the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Claims 34-37, 40-44, 47-48, and 59-60 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hashimoto et al. (5,681,297) in view of Jones et al. (5,482,714).

Art Unit: 3761

Hashimoto discloses all aspects of the claimed invention with the exception of the composition comprising a feces modifying agent, a skin care composition, and a thickener. The composition of Hashimoto is provided to cleanse fecal waste from the wearer of the article, as disclosed in column 3, lines 54-60.

Jones teaches a composition for cleansing skin that has contacted fecal waste, the composition comprising a silicone oil (see column 4, lines 35-44), Al_2O_3 (see column 3, line 26), and a thickener (see column 3, lines 13-14). The composition provides a skin care benefit and protects the skin from irritation caused by fecal waste, as disclosed in column 1, lines 49-56.

It would therefore be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to include a skin care composition in the cleansing composition of Hashimoto, as taught by Jones, to protect the skin from irritation by fecal waste.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
